FutureDesignEd2020

Updating Values — FutureDesignEd 2020 is the second edition of FutureDesignEd Symposium – Innovation in Design Education, Innovation in Education by Design, an academic research project promoted by the University of Bologna Design Programs that aims to observe the ongoing transformation of design education.

Focused on two different subjects “Student centered design education” and “Future centered design education” the two-days Symposium is an occasion for students, educators, researchers, practitioners and businesses to explore contemporary agendas, emerging directions and future challenges on the subject of design education, giving voice to the strategies and motivations behind the innovation excellence in the curricula of design universities, but also to the alternative training programs based on approaches and tools from the design cultures.

The Symposium will deepen the topics through a critical contribution provided by invited speakers and the presentation of the results of the survey.
